LEADERSHIP

Lieutenant Colonel Curtis U. Lindsay Battalion Commander

Lieutenant Colonel Curtis Lindsay is a native of St. Thomas, US Virgin Islands and entered the Army through ROTC at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff. He was commissioned in December 1990 as a Military Intelligence Officer, spending his first assignment at Sinop, Turkey, where he served a one year assignment as installation Special Security Officer for the US Army Field Station, Turkey. His next assignment was Fort Stewart, Georgia, where he served as the Brigade Intelligence Collection Coordinator for 1st Brigade, 24th Infantry Division; Assistant Brigade S2 for the 24th Corps Support Group; Company XO for HHC, 24th Corps Support Group; and Division G2 Intelligence Training and Inspector General Officer for the 24th Infantry Division.

After transferring to the reserves, LTC Lindsay served as the Battalion S2 for the 400th Military Police Battalion, Fort Meade, Maryland. During that assignment, he served three Counter Drug tours with Joint Task Force Six as an intelligence analyst supporting the FBI, INS and the DEA. As part of the Presidential National Recall, LTC Lindsay was reassigned to EUCOM J2 as Intelligence Staff Officer.

In 2003, he was transferred to the Joint Information Operations Center. Here he served as Assistant Chief of intelligence support to EUCOM team. After completing the MI Captain's Career Course, LTC Lindsay served as Assistant Chief, J2 Mission Management until October 2008. He then served a four-month tour as the JIOWC LNO to the Joint Force Component Command Network Warfare (now CYBERCOM) until March 2009. He returned to the JIOWC as the IO Intelligence Integration Regional Planner for NORTHCOM/ SOUTHCOM Teams until December 2010; Deputy Chief, J20 Geographical Intelligence Analysis Team until February 2012; and finished his tour serving until December 2012 as Chief, J20 Geographical Intelligence Analysis Team, JIOWC, San Antonio, Texas.
